

Stress Study

Perceived stress and patterns of autonomic function: a protocol development study

You may qualify for a Life University study designed to examine the relationship between stress and the nervous system.

Are you above 18 years old and a current student at Life University?

Participation will take about an hour and a half.

Participants can earn a Starbucks gift card.

This study has been approved by the Life University IRB.

For more information and to see if you qualify, contact: 770.426.2639
Or
Research.Studies@LIFE.edu.

LIFE
University
LIFE.edu

